IDENTIFYING THE GIFTED AND WORK WITH THEM IN EDUCATION

SECOND NOTICE

Centre for Research and Promotion of Giftedness at the Faculty of Education of the University of Ljubljana (CRSN) organizes

the 2nd International Professional-Research Meeting – Conference, held on September 21 and 22, 2017

Individuals and institutions that address giftedness, Talent Points within the European Talent Support Network (ETSN) as well as educators, teachers, teachers/professors mentors, and researchers who deal with the talented and would like to exchange experience in this field, gain new knowledge and make new acquaintances, are kindly invited to attend.

The objectives of the conference are as follows:

- Presentations of individual institutions - Talent Points within the European Talent Support Network (ETSN) and their practices and challenges of working with the gifted.
- Exchange of experience and expertise, research ideas with regard to the identification, promotion and work with the gifted at the national and international levels, and in various fields, e.g. natural sciences, social sciences, humanities, mathematics, art, sports, computer science, technology.
- Learning of and networking between agencies with similar professional or research interests.
- Cultivating a learning community of experts for quality teaching, based on the promotion of the learning potentials of the gifted.

In the scope of the conference a Student Case Study Competition for teams of gifted students from Talent point secondary school will be organised – more on <https://www.pef.uni-lj.si/1301.html>
